1. Reference is made to your memorandum, dated 12 December 1951, concerning the above subject, together with subsequent conversations with [REDACTED]. Accordingly, we are enclosing four forms each containing a major type of specialized personnel required by this office.

2. You will note that no specific names of individuals or organizations are furnished. In connection with many of our activities we are in contact with a number of law firms and other individuals who are potential sources.

3. We should like to offer one further comment concerning personnel requirements of this office. As you are aware, we have a comparatively small group of attorneys to fulfill the demands made on the office. It has been our philosophy to secure the highest type of attorney available and to develop them on a general basis. We have not developed specialists to the exclusion of well-rounded attorneys. In recruiting for the future we shall endeavor to carry on a similar philosophy.
